“The object of your mission is to explore the Missouri river, & such principal stream of it, as, by it's course & communication with the water of the Pacific Ocean may offer the most direct & practicable water communication across this continent, for the purposes of commerce. . . Other objects worthy of notice will be the soil & face of the country, its growth & vegetable productions. . . the animals of the country generally, & especially those not known in the U. S. . . You will therefore endeavor to make yourself acquainted, as far as a diligent pursuit of your journey shall admit, with the names of the nations & their numbers; the extent & limits of their possessions; their relations with other tribes or nations. . . If a few of their influential chiefs, within practicable distance, wish to visit us, arrange such a visit with them, and furnish them with authority to call on our officers” – Source: From a letter from President Thomas Jefferson to Meriwether Lewis and William Clark before their expedition to explore the Louisiana Territory between 1804 & 1806.
